"HIS GOUL IS MARCHING ON."
They call thee hot-brained, craized and mad
But every word that falls
Goes straight and true, and hits the mark—
More sure than cannon-balls;
Through scepter forms of bogus law,
It eats its way complete,
And judge and jury too are tried
At God's great judgment seat.

And then the humble poor will come,
In that far distant day,
And from the felon's n imeless grave
They'll brush the leaves away;
And gray old men will point the spot
Beneath the pine tree shade,
As children ask with streaming eyes,
Where old John Brown is laid.

Tell Your Mother.

I wonder how many girls tell their mothers everything. Not those "young ladies who, going to and from school, smile, bow and exchange notes and cartes de visites with young men who make fun of them and their pictures, speaking in a way that would make their cheeks burn with shame if they heard of it. All this, most incredulous and romantic roung ladies they will do. and romantic young ladies they will do, although they gaze at your fresh young faces admiringly, and send or give you charming verses and bonquets. No matter what "other girls do"—don't you do it. School girl flirtations may end disastronelle. trously, as many a toolish, wretched young girl could tell you. Your yearning for some one to love, is a great need of every woman's heart. But there is a time for everything. Don't let the bloom and forehouse.

Old man, farewell, they'll take thy life;
For daugerous enough,
In these our sweetly piping times.
Are men of hero stuff.
We should tread soft above the fires
That undeansath us lie;
You'll crack the drugt of compromise,
And set set them spouting high!

Where Henry's cry for 'Liberty'
Once sent its shivering thrill,
There's only room six feet by two
For heroes now to fill.
And o'er the spot the years will roll,
As spring its verdure weaves,
And astumn o'er the felon's grave
Shakes down its yellow leaves.
